Wants Heavy Damages. Rufus Pollard commenced a suit for $1,000 damages against W. H. Leigh yesterday in the district court by having a notice thereof served on Leigh by Constable Alberti. The suit grows out of the arrest of Pollard on an information filed in Justice Cook's court on the charge of obtaining goods by false pretenses. Pollard brought Leigh's horse to the Driving park and has been taking care of him, the agreement, according to Pollard, being that Leigh was to pay all expenses. Pollard went to a feed store and ran up a bill for hay and grain in Leigh's name. Leigh thereupon had Pollard arrested and the trial was partly heard by Justice Cook yes-terday. Pollard is now seeking redress in the shape of a $1,000 judgment for malicious

Last July Deputy Sheriff O'Brien received a letter from Willard at the penitentiary, stating that a friend of his located at Windsor, Can., just across the line from Detroit, had been in correspondence with E. Fraser, inspector of police at Detroit, for the purinspector of police at Detroit, for the purpose of having the robbery case at Griswold dismissed so far as Willard was concerned, upon condition that Willard would give up the secret of Riley's identity. September 2 a letter was received here from Inspector Fraser stating that he had no doubt that such an agreement could be entered into, and advising that it be done. Both letters were politicly but firmly tabled. Fraser also stated that Riley had lots of friends in Detroit, and Expensive Litigation.

The long drawn out case of Shaffer against the Lake Manawa Railway company and Colonel F. C. Reed came to its first stopping place yesterday afternoon, although the end is not yet, by any means. Owing to the prolonged illness of Colonel F. C. Reed, a postponement had to be taken, and Judge Thornell made an order that on September 30 his testimony and whatever other might be necessary, should be heard before John H. Clark, the court reporter, as referee. The evidence thus taken is to be extended and then submitted to Judge Thornell, together with all the other books and papers. which amount in all to about an papers, a half, and a decision will be rendered by him at his leisure. The expense of extend-ing the testimony is to be paid half and half by the plaintiff and defendant.

For fifteen days this case has been on trial, and the witness fees amount to more than $200. Three witnesses, Jerry Shea, D. Ashton and Miss Holladay, Colonel Reed's private secretary, are paid expert fees, $3 a day, which makes their fees for the last fifteen days $45 each. Other costs makes the whole amount up to more than $300, which will have to be paid by the party

Golden Wedding at Elkader. ELKADER, Ia., Sept. 11 .- (Special Telegram.)-Hon. Samuel Murdock celebrated his golden wedding today. Many friends were present. Mr. Murdock is well known in early lowa affairs. In 1845 he was elected a member of the territorial legislature of Iowa, and remained in that body until Iowa was admitted as a state. In 1855 he was elected to the position of judge of the Tenth judicial district, and held the first courts in several of the ten counties then comprised within the district. Though in early life he was a democrat, he assisted in the formation of the re-publican party, and has ever been one of its talwart workers. His parents were of Scotch ancestry, but were born in county Armagh, Ireland. They emigrated to America in 1812, settling near Pittsburg, Pa., where their son, Samuel, was born March 13, 1817. In 1845 Judge Murdock married Miss Louisa Patch, who came to this county from New York in 1837. She is a woman of marked force of character and strong mental ability. Two daughters are all that now remain to them of their family of six children.

> CHICAGO, Sept. 11 .- Ex-Congressman John . McShane of Omaha was arraigned here today charged with conspiring with F. H. Culver, a Chicago attorney, to defraud the real estate firm of Bartlett & Roach. The defendants asked for an immediate trial, but the case was continued until tomorrow.

The real estate men charge that McShane and Culver deliberately conspired to swindle them out of about $65,000, while the ex-congressman declares that he is innocent and threatens to bring suit for damages for false imprisonment. McShane and Culver were arrested on a warrant sworn out by C. E. Bartlett of the firm of Bartlett & Roach, real estate dealers at No. 8 Dearborn street. It is claimed that the respondents conspired to defraud the real estate firm in the course of a transfer of valuable property. James Atwood, a janitor, and B. J. Scannell, a partner of McShane in Omaha, it is said, will also be arrested. According to the story of Bartlett & Roach, that firm was to exchange a flat building on the corner of State street and Cloud court for a number of vacant and unincumbered lots in Evanston, Evergreen and other suburbs. All the contracts, deeds and abstracts on both too much and Morearty was ordered from the house. As he started for the door he turned and said to the judge:

"You are a — — drunken sot."

At this the judge arose from his dining table and placed Morearty under arrest and booked him at the jall for disturbing the peace.

The wind was blowing a furlous gale, and for a time it looked as though the entire business por loo of the city was doomed. It is supposed that the fire originated from a spark from the engine in the blacksmith shop.

Following is as complete a list of the losses as it is possible to secure at this time: First National bank, $8,000; W. H. Parrott, butter and eggs, $400; A. Cloughly, $500; Ferguest Market, $1,000; A. W. Blakeslee, dentist, $200; A. Cook, wagon maker, $5,000; C. "I am not interested $1 in either the suburban or the State street property, and the records will show that to be true. I shall bring suit for damages for false arrest and perjury against the complainants. They find I am a good man to stick, too. I be with them three years from now if necessary. I expect to be discharged when the case comes up. There is not a thing to hold case comes up. There is not a thing to hold me on and the whole proceeding was an outrage.

Mr. P. J. Scannell, bookkeeper for Mr. McShane, denounces the arrest of his prince pal as an entirely uncalled for proceeding for the purpose of annoying Mr. McShane. He says that as a matter of fact Mr. Mc-Shane had no connection with the real estate deal in question. He himself was the prin-cipal in the affair, which was a trade of property in which the Chicago firm had made a proposition which had been accepted. Afterward they attempted to back out, but it was too late, and they had evidently taken Yesterday afternoon George Jarkson, an this course by way of making trouble. If en-ploye at Hammond's packing house, fell their grievance had any foundation in law rom the top of a moving box car and his they would have naturally resorted to a civil just received a telegram from Mr. McShane in which the latter stated that he had already begun a sult for damages for malicious prosecution and false imprisonment.
